Founder / CEO

A published author and scholar with 37 years' experience in writing, teaching, and book editing, I'm a retired professor of English. Since I founded Edit911.com, Inc., in December 1999, my staff and I have edited more than 40,000 books and dissertations, as well as 60,000 other business documents, essays, websites, and academic articles of all sorts for submission and publication.

All Edit911 editors hold PhDs and are native English writers. We offer a wide variety of backgrounds and specialties.

As expected for a premiere editing service, the humanities are well represented with experience in education, literature, publishing, linguistics, grant writing, art, creative writing, poetry, history, rhetoric & composition, communications, speech, philosophy, and theology.

Other staff come from business administration and management, foreign and domestic political sciences, social and clinical psychology, Western and Eastern European studies, sociology, and law. Science specializations range from biochemistry, wildlife, and molecular biology to toxicology, materials engineering, chemistry, applied mathematics, physics, engineering, and medicine.

DISSERTATION EDITING

A PhD editor who specializes in dissertation editing within your discipline will provide expert editing. This includes 100% compliance with both the prevailing style (e.g., APA, CMS, MLA, CSE) and your university's variances for citations and references, appropriate tone and diction, and structure. We also offer content evaluation, such as the development of your ideas, the strength of your argument, the effectiveness of your support, and the identification of any weaknesses or flaws that may prevent your thesis or dissertation from being accepted.

BOOK EDITING

Our book editing service provides both fiction and non-fiction editing. An experienced PhD book editor will thoroughly and skillfully edit your work to deadline. Our 100% guarantee that you'll be satisfied with our book editing, whether fiction editing or non-fiction editing. While we cannot guarantee your book will be published, we'll do our very best to maximize its quality, and thus enhance its chances of publication. Review our list of published clients.

PROFESSIONAL COPYEDITING

Our book editors, academic editors, and dissertation editors are adept at journal editing, article editing, newsletter editing, eBook editing, and medical editing. Our work goes beyond errors in spelling, punctuation, and format to suggest revisions and additions to content and addressing stylistic weaknesses. View samples of our English editing.

SERVICES

ACADEMIC EDITING

Whether you're a scholar or a student, we edit articles for publication in scholarly journals and provide essay editing and paper editing for students. While we do not assist with content creation, we offer suggestions for standing up to all manner of academic rigor. This includes issues with structure and research, citing and referencing sources, and maintaining the correct tone and style. And we work efficiently, for a modest fee, often with same or next-day turnaround.
